DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. That claim recites "substantially parallel to of the curved path" which is indefinite because of the "to of" recitation is grammatically confusing.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Claims 1-8 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lizé (US 5,636,450). The claims are reasonably and broadly construed in light of the specification, as being disclosed by Lizé for comprising:

an IR dryer, for use in drying a continuous paper web (col. 1, line 24) by means of IR radiation (col. 1, line 31), comprising:

an array of IR emitters (7, fig. 2) having a length and arranged in spaced relation to the paper web (1, fig. 2);

a lamp protection plate (9, fig. 2) placed intermediate the IR emitters (7, fig. 2) and the paper web:

Application/Control Number: 10/505,292

Art Unit: 3749

said lamp protection plate having a length wherein a paper web is moved in a curved path to dry the paper web and wherein at least one of the lamp protection plate and array of IR emitters is curved along its length and extends substantially parallel to of the curved path (fig. 2, col. 1, lines 30-35); or alternatively:

an IR dryer, for use in drying a continuous paper web (col. 1, line 24) by means of IR radiation (col. 1, line 31), comprising:

an array of IR emitters (7, fig. 2) arranged in use, in spaced relation to the paper web, said array of IR emitters comprising a plurality of first quartz tubes and each tube having an IR heating element therein (1, fig. 2);

a lamp protection plate (9, fig. 2) intermediate the IR emitters (7, fig. 2) and the paper web:

said lamp protection plate comprising a second plurality of quartz tubes arranged in an array (fig. 2, col. 1, lines 30-35). Lizé also discloses gas powered heating elements inherently since it is well known that IR heating is by lamps and/or gas burning sources, gas passage cooling, curved reflector plate, second plurality of quartz tubes, side by side arrangement, same paper directional movement extending in the same direction as shown in figures 1-3.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 11-26, 29-30, and 32-34 are allowable over the prior art as discussed in prior Office actions, along with the amended feature in claim 29 such that the IR emitter is curved along its length.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-8 and 10 have been considered but are not persuasive.

anticipation

Current Office practice guides examination such that claims are reasonably and broadly construed in light of the accompanying specification. In this application, the applicants urge claim construction to be more narrow than guided by current practice. Specifically, applicants argue that the claimed "IR emitters is curved along its length and extends substantially parallel to and curved in a direction of the curved path" should be construed to be patentable over the IR emitter lamps 7, taught in primary reference Lizé at column 2 line 65 through column 3 line 8 and shown in figures 1 and 2. To those skilled in the art, the plain meaning of the claimed and argued "array having its length substantially parallel to and curved" is anticipated by the disclosed teaching because both show that an array of emitter lamps in the direction of the intended use. It is recognized that the claimed array meets the claimed parallel and curved direction and is construed under current Office guidance.

Claim 1 recites a "lamp protection plate and array of IR emitters has its length extending substantially parallel to and curved in a direction of the curved path." Claim 7 has not been amended. In both claims the plates and emitters curve along the web path, as shown in Lizé and discussed in the rejection above. Both claims 1 and 7 are construed such that the teachings of Lizé anticipate the claimed elements

In this application, the anticipatory rejection is believed proper and maintained.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
